ABOUT US

The History faculty at EMHS is passionate about teaching young learners how human societies have changed over time, as we believe that this helps us understand the origins of the modern world. We are dedicated to the learning of our students and encourage independent thinking in an intellectually stimulating environment.

HISTORY SUBJECTS

JUNIOR HISTORY

The study of History in junior years examines events, people and societies from ancient, medieval and modern times in an effort to develop a deeper understanding of civics and citizenship. Historic themes of the conservation of colonialism and the making of the modern world are further investigated in junior years.

ELECTIVE HISTORY

Students explore the nature of history, heritage and archaeology and the methods that historians use to construct history through a range of thematic, historical studies. The students of elective history undertake a process of historical inquiry by analysing sources and sequencing historical events to construct logical arguments supported by evidence to communicate to different audiences.

ANCIENT HISTORY

The study of Ancient History provides students with the opportunity to develop and apply their understanding of issues involved in the investigation of the ancient past.

MODERN HISTORY

The investigation of Modern History examines a range of people, ideas, movements, events and developments that have shaped the modern world.

HISTORY EXTENSION

History Extension focuses on the way history is constructed and the role of historians. Students will investigate the nature of history and the changing approaches related to the construction of historical opinions in relation to bias.

LANGUAGES (FRENCH AND ITALIAN)

The learning of languages encourages more effective engagement within the global community. The rich cultural diversity provides an educational environment where the study of language is valued as an integral part of the curriculum.

STUDIES OF RELIGION

The Studies of Religion course promotes the development of understanding and awareness of the nature and significance of religion whilst examining the influence of belief systems and religious traditions within society.
